With Tennessee Master Gardener Joy Moore

"Earth-Friendly Gardening"

Discover how to create a beautiful, healthy landscape that works with nature. Winter is the perfect time to plan your natural yard and garden!

About the Guest Speaker:

Joy Moore is a Tennessee Master Gardener and a founding member of Southern Appalachian Plant Society (SAPS). A native of East Tennessee, she has been involved with environmental issues for many years and has a special passion for native plants. Joy works with SAPS' Great Gardens program to encourage environmentally-friendly gardening practices, teaches the local Master Gardener class on Integrated Pest Management, and works with children's environmental projects. She frequently speaks to groups across the region on native plants, herbs and heirlooms. She is also an active volunteer with Exchange Place and Keep Kingsport Beautiful. Joy and her husband, Jon, live in Fall Branch. They have 3 grown children and 5 young grandchildren. Her experience as a gardener, educator, and amateur naturalist make her the perfect speaker for this program!

About the Seminar:

Would you like to have a beautiful garden that conserves natural resources and reduces waste? Would you like to welcome birds, butterflies and other beneficial wildlife into your yard, and also save time and money? Then earth-friendly gardening is for you! When we create and maintain earth-friendly gardens, our landscaping choices will help protect the environment and promote biodiversity. At this seminar you will learn what plant varieties are well suited to our area (especially natives) and what plants to avoid. You will pick up tips on creating wildlife habitats, conserving water, composting, and reducing use of chemical pesticides and fertilizers. Expect lots of pictures of beautiful plants and extensive handouts with information for you to apply at home.

Plan to spend a brisk winter morning learning how to create a more beautiful, more natural neighborhood. The seminar will be held at the Recreation Building on Duck Island, at Warriors' Path State Park. Although this event is free and open to all, we do ask that you pre-register if you plan to attend.
